

Build a Business You Want to Rave About (and so do your clients)

What Does Being "Rave-Worthy" Mean?

Suzy Dickstein is the creator of the "Rise to Rave-Worthy" Blueprint™." She helps solopreneurs who sound just like everybody else in their messaging (yawn!) find their uniqueness and build a mini-movement.

But her ability to do that doesn't come from having built multiple multi-million dollar businesses, graduating from Harvard, or having worked with the biggest brands on the planet. Quite the opposite! She failed to launch business after business because of low self-esteem and something always feeling off. After decades of trying to figure out what makes a business take off, she finally put the pieces together and now transforms "same-as" solopreneurs into personal brand champions.

"Suzy is a ball of fire and definitely rave-worthy. I spent two and a half hours with her on a Zoom call and transformational. I don't use that word lightly."
